City Council Renews BID: Exempts Residentially-Zoned Parcels

On February 3 the Missoula City Council formally approved renewal of the Business Improvement District (BID) for another 10 years. Renewal of the BID was supported by 72% of the owners in the district with less than 3% protest. The Downtown BID has been in place since 2005.

Montana Code Annotated defines a BID as serving the community by “…promoting health, safety, prosperity, security, and general welfare of the inhabitants of the district...”. The Downtown Missoula BID includes nearly 700 parcels, assessed annually for common-area maintenance, safety and security, and business development. To create or renew a BID, 60% of the landowners in the district must approve self-assessments by signed petitions.

During the renewal process, the City Council exempted all residentially-zoned parcels in the district. The exemption impacts about 60 parcels and results in a loss of $15,000 annually for the BID. The majority of parcels zoned residential in the BID are primarily located in the Kiwanis Park area, as well as East Pine Street and South Third Street West. The BID Board will determine what services, if any, will be provided for those property owners.

“We appreciate the input and engagement from all the property owners in Downtown Missoula,” said Linda McCarthy, Executive Director. “We value opinions and ideas by property owners, and our efforts to improve the cleanliness, safety and economic prosperity of Downtown is having positive impacts on Downtown at a variety of different levels. The general public is grateful for the work of the BID.”

Heritage Interpretive Plan Update

Downtown Missoula is showing unprecedented growth and redevelopment. With the addition of three downtown hotels, exciting news regarding the Riverfront Triangle, and much more, Missoula has an opportunity to both embrace change and celebrate its character, values, uniqueness, and heritage.

The Missoula Downtown Foundation worked with Historical Research Associates, Inc., and other partners to develop a Missoula Downtown Heritage Interpretive Plan. The plan was designed to help guide citizens. It provides a roadmap for communicating our heritage, identifying stories to tell, how to tell those stories, and involving the community and encouraging collaboration and connectivity.

The plan reminds us that Missoula’s heritage is meaningful. It is the land of the Salish and upper Kalispel tribes, of wilderness and water, of industry and commercial enterprise, and home for many people. The plan is presented in four parts. First, the interpretive foundation is discussed. It is a resource guide for design and media. The second part describes Downtown Missoula’s existing conditions relative to heritage interpretation. The third part outlines specific interpretive recommendations. The fourth part provides additional resources for developing interpretation and other information about the interpretive planning process.

More information can be found at https://www.missouladowntown.com/heritage-interpretive-plan/.

A special thanks to the volunteers serving on interpretive planning groups. The Plan was a collaborative effort with the City of Missoula Historic Preservation Office and DMP with support from the Montana Department of Commerce.

To understand what’s happening in Downtown Missoula, the BID tracks activities for the Ambassador, Police and Clean Team programs. Here’s an overview of 2019:

Ambassador Dave Chrismon aided more than 11,000 customers, providing directions, referrals and assistance with the parking kiosks. He assisted Downtown business owners almost 2,000 times in 12 months, tore down over 400 posters, and removed over 300 graffiti tags in Downtown.

The Downtown Clean Team removed 53 yards of garbage; cleaned, weeded or removed almost 1,700 tree grates; cleared out or chipped ice from 100 street drains; returned 72 shopping carts to area grocery stores; chipped the ice off of 445 street corners; and cleaned up 364 alleys in the district.

Downtown Police Officer Randy Krastel had over 5,600 interactions with individuals in 2019. He issued 178 citations for camping, 136 citations for disorderly conduct, 110 citations for trespassing, 29 citations for theft, and 27 citations for open container. He also provided 166 welfare checks, 385 visits to the Mountain Line Transit Center, 369 visits to Caras Park, 301 visits to Bess Reed Park, and 249 visits to Kiwanis Park. Most importantly, he helped 17 homeless individuals get home or into housing.

These statistics tell the story of what’s happening Downtown and how our employees are interacting with the public. More information can be found online at www.missouladowntown.com.

Downtown’s New Master Plan Speaks to Values of Missoulians

Following a year-long, community-visioning process, the new Downtown Master Plan was adopted by 13 different organizations and agencies last fall, including both the City of Missoula and Missoula County. The new Downtown Master Plan can be found online at www.missoulasdowntownmasterplan.com, and there is a hard copy at the Missoula Public Library for reference.

Under the direction of BID Board Member Ellen Buchanan, the Downtown Master Plan Implementation Team will focus on the short-term goals of the Plan. The Implementation Matrix in Chapter 7 defines the Action Items in short-term, mid-term, and long-term timelines.

The new Downtown Master Plan has Five Big Ideas:
1. Downtown Needs to be More than One “Postcard” Street
2. Improve Mobility, Health & Safety
4. Enhance Parks & Public Spaces, Better Utilize the River
5. Downtown for Everyone

Nearly 60 businesses, individuals and organizations supported the Master Plan Update. The new plan contains maps, diagrams, photos and renderings to help make concepts clear and accessible to all stakeholders, including City officials, non-profit groups, developers and residents.

The Downtown Master Plan Implementation Team meets the second Thursday of the month from 12-2 pm at the MRA’s Hal Fraser Conference Room (140 W. Pine).
